WEBSITES

I have designed and prepared for construction a large number of websites for a variety of different coders and developers. These have consisted of HTML and Flash brochure sites and fully customised E-commerce ASPX database sites. I also have experience of content management systems such as Business Catalyst and a bespoke CMS called Liquid Modules which I helped to develop. Most websites have included functionality such as; Java sliders, lightbox galleries, news items and feeds, blogs, forums, product catalogues and shops. Through learning HTML I am now able to construct websites at a low level.

Solutions for Microgeneration.

Bglobal Are Market Leaders In Smart Metering Services

Bglobal, independent specialists in energy measurement and management help companies significantly reduce energy costs, meet the Carbon Reduction Commitment and get smart about energy.

Bglobal delivers a comprehensive suite of services for managing electricity and gas utilities including installation and maintenance of smart settlement meters and sub-meters, data collection for billing and settlements, and analysis tools which help customers make informed decisions on energy and save money.

Bglobal was floated on AIM in April 2007 and works with both the leading UK energy suppliers and direct customers seeking smart metering solutions, including the creation of bespoke New Energy solutions such as Solar PV and Wind.

The expertise of Bglobal enables unique and long term client relationships to develop, with solutions and products built for the customer needs of both today and tomorrow.

With more than 140,000 smart electricity meters now installed in business premises across the UK we are responsible for settling over 1.5% of the entire UK electricity market...and growing every day.
